Democrats, Take Notice.

On the fourth Saturday in February you are requested to meet at 10 o'clock P. M. at your respective voting precincts and elect a committee-man to represent your precinct in the county committee. This call does not apply to the precincts that obeyed the call made in December. The county committee must be complete and all precincts that fail to elect will have one appointed.

N. M. Turr,
Ch'r., Dem., Co., Com.

Garnett B. Ripley, of Henry county, has been indicted by the Franklin county grand jury as an accessory before the fact to the murder of William Goebel. A bench warrant was at once issued and Ripley was placed under arrest at his home. Ripley was Captain of one of Taylor's militia companies, and had charge of the squad of soldiers in the ante-room of the Governor's office when Taylor was preventing search for the assassin. It is significant that N. H. Witherspoon, brother-in-law of Henry E. Youtsey, was a witness before the grand jury which indicted Ripley.

Circuit Judge Cantrill has ordered Jim Howard transferred from the Louisville jail to the county jail at Frankfort. Henry E. Youtsey will be taken to Georgetown to receive his sentence.

The Kentucky Judicial District Bill was passed by the Senate last Saturday. It now goes to the House and a motion to concur in the Senate amendments probably was made Monday.

The most conservative Republicans in Congress took upon an extra session with disfavor.

Last Wednesday was the anniversary of the murder of Gov. Goebel. All the State offices at Frankfort were closed.

The minority party of the Indiana Legislature want Taylor and Ripley turned over to the Kentucky authorities.

The jury in the John Gibson case gave him life term for murdering his step-daughter. He was tried at Catlettsburg last week.

Elizabeth Lindy, of Washington, Ind., had a mania for marrying and letting her husbands milled. In the last few years she has been married six times, as many times divorced, and last week was landed in an asylum.

The St. Louis Republic, one of the leading Democratic dailies of the nation, makes the following sensible remarks on the ship-subsidy grab: "With the calling of an extra session of Congress, which now seems to have been agreed upon in Washington, the syndicate backers of the ship-subsidy bill will doubtless be greatly encouraged to hope for the prompt passage of that measure in the shape desired by the select and powerful few who will benefit by the proposed grab. It is safe to say that there would be no extra session if the ship-subsidy bill had been passed during the regular session now drawing to a close. But the Fifty-sixth Congress has been unexpectedly stubborn in resisting Mark Hanna's will, and there is a Republican opposition to the ship-subsidy grab which was not foreseen by its promoters. It may be that the Fifty-seventh Congress will prove more pliable in the hands of the monopolists. It is at least to be subjected to an extra-session pressure so strong that a refusal to pass the ship-subsidy bill will amount to Republican revolt against the Hanna-McKinley syndicate crowd. Hanna and his followers are too wise, however, to confess that the extra session of Congress will be called for any such purpose as the passage of the ship-subsidy grab. It is, instead, 'demanded by Cuban and Philippine considerations,' they argue—especially the Cubans. It is now the 'sentiment that Cuba's independence must be recognized,' the Hanna organ in St. Louis announces. It is 'not fair to the islanders that this should be long delayed,' says the Globe-Democrat, 'this previous thick-and-thin mouthpiece of Hannaism.' 'It will be indefensible to keep the Cubans waiting from March to December.' This sudden solicitude on behalf the Cubans, following a profound indifference of two years' duration, is amusing, to say the least. What a tremendous hurry on the part of the Hanna gang to do the right thing by Cuba—and at the same time jam through a subsidy grab which will take $150,000,000 out of the people's pockets and put it in the pockets of the monopolists behind the ship-subsidy bill! The spectacle will be enjoyed by the American people; it is so typical of Hanna and his party."

The army reorganization bill passed its last stage in Congress, and only needs the President's signature to become a law. It is generally believed that Mr. McKinley will sign the bill. More soldiers, more taxes and more money—to get.

As an evidence that industry and honesty will accomplish much, a foreman at Homestead Mills was allotted by Mr. Carnegie, last week, $150,000 worth of stock in the concern. In a few years he will be a millionaire.

The Republicans of Casey county met on Monday, the 28th ult., for the purpose of fixing a date for the nominating convention. There are quite a number of candidates and their friends could not agree on a date. Another meeting will be held at an early day.

Mr. W. Walton has tendered his resignation as editor and manager of the Lexington Daily Democrat. His health and private business forced Mr. Walton to take the step. There was no friction, and the paper prospered under his management. He will return to Stanford.

The Committee that heard the evidence in the Walker-Ray contest for the 9th Virginia District reported in favor of the present incumbent, Mr. Ray, Democrat. Walker is a contestant of considerable notoriety, but this will probably be his last one, as his party has tired of him.

Robert F. Fosburgh is under arrest at Pittsfield, Mass., charged with killing his sister. The family of Fosburgh say the young lady was killed by burglars. The theory of the detectives is that the accused shot at his wife, killing his sister, and from the reading of the account it looks very much like the opinion of the detectives is right.

Every county in this Senatorial District has a candidate for the upper division of Representatives but Cumberland, and she may put a man in the field. The district is largely Republican, therefore, no Democrat has as yet stated that he was willing to be sacrificed. The nominating convention will be held at Burkesville and a lively time may be expected.

A Kentucky clergyman was remonstrating with one of his parishioners for not attending church, when the member gave him excuse that he did not like long sermons, says the Winchester Democrat. Well, said the servant of God, "if you don't do your duty you will go to a place where you will not have the privilege of hearing either long or short sermons." "That may be," replied the erring man, but it will not be for a lack of preachers.

Although the Ship Subsidy bill is not before the House, Representative Thayer, of Mass., took advantage of the wide latitude allowed in the discussion of appropriation bills to make a strong speech against it, bristling with common sense arguments showing that the measure would not result in building up our merchant marine, and concluding with these words: "If the American Merchant Marine is to be revived and rehabilitated so as to take a prominent and commanding position among the nations of the world, it will be done in some other way than by the temporary intoxicant provided by the provisions of this bill, and we have no moral right, even if we were not constrained by no other consideration, to tax 75,000,000 people that we may bestow a bounty upon seven companies or corporations."

Thirty-three thousand soldiers participated in the funeral of Queen Victoria which occurred last Saturday.

Judge J. R. Cantrell's residence at Georgetown was destroyed by fire last Thursday. The loss on the house and furniture is estimated at $25,000; insurance, $12,000.

One Alabama Steel plant has contracted with the Virginia Coal and Iron Company of Wise county Va. for $125,000 of coke. Wise county is the heart of the greatest coking coal field in the world.

The army re-organization bill has passed its last stage in Congress, and only needs the President's signature to become a law. It is generally believed that Mr. McKinley will sign the bill. More soldiers, more taxes and more money—to get.

It is now admitted by Treasury officials that the greater portion of the taxes imposed nominally to meet the expenses of the war with Spain, but really to make up the deficit that would have existed long before now on account of the prohibitive nature of many sections of the Dingley tariff act, will be permanent, because of the increasing public expenditures and the decreasing income from customs duties. Some prominent Republicans are openly advocating the lowering of tariff duties to increase the revenue, but the rock-ribbed high protectionists, of whom Mr. McKinley is one of the chief high priests, will not consent to that as long as they have power to prevent it. So the people will have to pay the war taxes.

The Republican Committee of the 12th Senatorial district met in Coleville last Monday and took the following action: County conventions to select delegates on Monday, March 11th, who are to attend a district convention to be held at Burkesville, Thursday, March 14th to nominate a candidate for the Senate. The districts comprise the counties of Adair, Russell, Wayne, Clinton and Cumberland. There are a half dozen candidates.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells, when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phoebe Cherley, of Peterson, Ia., and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 13 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at T. E. Paul's drug store.

JOPPA

Mrs. Hettie Joppa is quite sick with pneumonia fever.

The mother of Mr. W. M. Bell died last Thursday night at his home.

Mr. A. O. Young sold a young heifer to Hudson Conover for $10.

Miss Ida Willis has been visiting in the Pleasant Grove neighborhood the last week.

Mr. W. E. Garnett has moved to Mrs. Martin Holladay's farm.

Bafof Willis is attending school at Bradfordville.

Mrs. Polly Montgomery who was knocked down by a cow a few weeks ago is improving.

During Mrs. A. E. Cabell's visit to Missouri a short time ago she visited two of her old school mates, Mrs. Lizzie Reynolds and Mrs. Sallie L. Simpson, daughters of Clayton Miller. Mrs. Simpson owns a large farm and is doing well but said she was coming back to visit her old Kentucky friends next summer.

Messrs. C. G. Jeffries and R. E. Montgomery, bought a nice lot of hogs of Lee Grant at 4 cents.

Thousands Sent Into Exile.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. Don't be an exile when Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption will cure you at home. It's the most infallible medicine for Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung diseases on earth. The first dose brings relief. Astounding cures result from persistent use. Trial bottles free at T. E. Paul's. Price 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

The claim of other cough medicines to be as good as Chamberlain's is effectually set at rest in the following testimonial of Mr. C. D. Glass, an employe of Barlett & Dennis Co., Gardiner, Me. He says: "I had kept adding to a cold and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the drug store of Mr. Houchens and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay me my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy and have since always turned to it when I get a cold, and soon find relief. I always recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines." For sale by M. Craves.

Consumption is a germ disease. The germs are everywhere, but they cannot get hold of you unless you get your lungs ready for them by neglecting a cold or failing to properly cure a cough. The important merit of Morley's Hore Pectoral is, that while it cures quickly it cures thoroughly. Ask your druggist.

Capt. C. C. Christie Dead.

In last week's issue of the News we spoke of the serious illness of the subject of this notice, and at that time there was some hope for his recovery.

But Wednesday he commenced sinking, breathing his last Friday morning at 2 o'clock.

He was an active business man and was one of the best farmers in Green county. He was also a dealer in live stock, handling many mules and cattle annually.

He was a native of Adair county, and was the best known man within its border.

He was popular with every body—an exceedingly kind man to the poor, and will be greatly missed by that class of citizens.

When the war between the States broke out he enlisted in the 13th Kentucky infantry, was promoted to Captaincy, making a brave and fearless soldier until the war closed.

Returning home with but little money he went to work and in a few years accumulated a comfortable estate, and died owning the most valuable farm in Green county.

The deceased was about 65 years old and leaves a wife and a family of children. His wife and children are grown to man and woman, and the other relatives of the family of Adair county extend their tenderest sympathy.

He will only be missed by the family circle, but through out Green and Adair counties. The burial took place at Mt. Pleasant Friday afternoon and was conducted by the Masonic Fraternity.

A Good Citizen Dead.

Last Sunday evening the spirit of Mr. James Ingram took its flight to that land from whence no traveler returns.

He had been confined to his room at Mr. Deland's hotel for several months having been stricken with paralysis last fall.

He was in his 70th year, a member of the Christian church and an upright man. For people in this section but who knew the subject of this sketch and if he had an enemy he would have been a rare one.

His life was a good citizen, a hard worker and a man who had the confidence of all.

For many years he lived on his farm near Columbia and raised a good sized family all of whom are upright, industrious and progressive.

Besides leaving several children his aged wife still survives to whom we extend our sympathies.

The body was laid to rest Monday in the old family burying grounds near Cave Valley.

The Commercial Club, organized here a short time ago, can be of great advantage to this community.

By determination, but if the members of this club and other citizens of this county should become members, are not willing, ready and determined to take up such matters as will advance this community and push the same to the front.

The club might as well disband and direct to "Run the river and our father's head run" and be content to remain twenty miles from the city and six months in the year.

On the other hand if an united effort is made many improvements will result.

For many years the Commercial Club has desired a pipe from Columbia and a good river and its worth is recognized by all, but up to date no effort has been made to secure a desirable pipe.

Improvement. To reach the river a good part of the road must pass through Russell county, hence, that county is interested in the project.

Will and do it part. Already the people of Jamestown and vicinity are aroused to the importance of this enterprise and are ready to build the road from the Adair line to the river, provided the people of this county will complete the route to Columbia.

The people of this town have agitated the enterprise long enough; the citizens of this section are aware of its benefit, and all that is needed is to join with the Russell county people and push it to completion.

The Commercial Club should take this up next next Monday night, appoint sub-committees as necessary and never let this proposed improvement drag. This road is worth building and it built will add pleasure and profit to this entire section.

Let us go out to the meeting and come to take part in the industrial advancement of this section.

Mr. Milton Jones, who resided in the above of Columbia, died last Friday afternoon.

He had been a sufferer for more than thirty years, but until fifteen months ago he was able to be about town.

He was a soldier in the Federal army and while in battle one of his arms was shattered by a piece from a bomb-shell.

The arm was amputated and he was left with one arm and a good citizen. He is survived by the remainder of his large family and children.

Religious services were held at the residence Saturday forenoon and the remains interred in the family burying ground.

The sympathy of this community goes out to the afflicted family.

"Trust your father's judgment of young men friends rather than your own at first," writes Helen Watson Monday in her letter to her mother.

"The way wide, responsive young man who will probably most attract you will not be the one who will be likely to have the serious consideration and respect. Talk over your own friends with your father and see what healthy, unemotional, sane man stands out from the crowd."

Let it be said that if any one is in her love affairs it would better be her father than any one else.

Adair—He gets that if it is true and keeps and treat's them right while within.

If you want office, then announce yourself a Candidate in the News.

It will cost you three dollars.

All members and stockholders of the Columbia Band Co. are earnestly requested to meet in the News office Friday night, Feb. 8, 1901.

The farm that Capt. C. C. Christie left to his family is said to be one of the most productive in Green county and is valued at $12,000.

Persons who are acquainted with the Captain's last year's business, say that he sold in mules, cattle, hogs, provender from the farm $10,000.

The members of the Christian Church at Liberty gave their pastor Ed. J. Montgomery, a surprise party one night last week. We take it that he was the recipient of much good thing to eat, and perhaps some useful presents.

The box-spring given by Miss Adair Willis, who resides near Zion church, last Friday night in honor of her father's birthday, was largely attended, and one of the party informs us that it was a very delightful gathering.

Prof. P. C. McCaffrey, who has been telling the story "How to make sweet music for the last thirty five years" was in town Monday.

Mr. McCaffrey has been teaching vocal music in Cumberland county for the last three weeks and will return to that section in a few days.

He has large classes wherever he goes and there is no doubt as to his proficiency.

This office is in receipt of a small piece of the Clinton county gold ore, but we are not able to analyze it, being practically strangers to the precious metal we do not know whether it is the real article or what is known as "fool gold."

The ore is so called to show gold and we trust that it is the genuine article and an inexhaustible supply.

LATENT.—Since writing the above local Chemists have pronounced the metal pure gold.

Mr. J. Salmon, a young man well known in the Gradyville county, who is at Mounds, Indian Territory, writes under date January 29th, that the Indians are on the warpath, killing and scalping white men and whipping their wives and children.

The leader of the Indians was captured Sunday before the date of his letter and peace is expected to follow.

There will be preaching at the following places next Sunday: T. F. Walton, Columbia; W. S. Dodgeon, Mt. Pleasant; T. Williams, Dunville; C. F. Breeding, Providence; H. T. Jesse, Big Creek; J. F. Beach, Harro's Fork; T. Huffaker, Smith's Chapel; W. P. Gordon, Carmel; T. H. Hulse, Gradyville; C. M. Deaton, Freedom; W. B. Cave, Jamestown.

Riley Cobb, a driver of the Columbia livery, claims that there was an attempt to rob him last Thursday night. He was returning from Monticello and when near the place where Matt Swanson was killed, two men stopped his wagon, wanting him to change a ten dollar bill.

He told them he did not have that much money, and they then attempted to get into his wagon, but he stood them off with his pistol.

Our readers will remember that at the last term of the Casey Circuit Court, Matt Burton was convicted of killing a Miss Holt and given seven years in the penitentiary.

The case was taken up, and last week the Court of Appeals affirmed the judgment of the lower court.

Burton was drunk and shot at the girl's brother when she was killed. A life term would not have been.

A Deserving Compliment.

Below we give the report of the grand jury after investigating the condition of the county jail.

"Judge of the Circuit court of Adair county.—We the grand jury, inspected the county jail and found it in good condition. We also return our thanks to the Commonwealth and County Attorneys for their valuable assistance in the investigation of the jail."

"JOHN J. COFFEY, Foreman said: This Jail is in good condition."

No county has a better Jail than Adair—He gets that if it is true and keeps and treat's them right while within.

Tribute to Woman.

The following is one of the most beautiful tributes to woman we have ever seen, but we know not the author:

"Place her among the flowers, softer than a tender plant, and she is a thing of fancy, wariness and folly animated by a dewdrop, fretted by the touch of a butterfly's wing, ready to faint at the sound of a beetle or the rattle of a window-pane at night, and overpowered by the perfume of the rosebud. But let real calamity come rouse her affections, exult in the fires of her heart and mark her then! How strong her heart! Give her a child or a bird or anything to protect, and see her in an instant lifting up her white arms as a shield as her own crimson, her upturned forehead, praying for her life to protect the helpless. She disputes inch by inch the strides of a stalking pestilence, when man, the strong and the brave, pale and affrighted shrinks away. Misfortune daunts her not. She wears away a life of silent endurance, and goes forward with less thinking than her husband. In prosperity she is a host of odds, waiting but for the wind of adversity to scatter them abroad—quite a number of witnesses were introduced, the testimony somewhat conflicting. The case was argued by Judge J. C. Garrett for the defense and Mr. Kohn for the plaintiff. The jury deliberated about one hour and returned a verdict against defendant for $25.00.

For the benefit of those who think that preachers have nothing to do but ride over the country, eat fried chicken and cake and have an easy time, we give you the work of one minister for a few months in this part of the State. Beginning July 1, 1900 and ending February 1, 1901, he labored 84 days, delivered 12 sermons, witnessed 26 conversions, baptized 25, made 200 religious visits, held four protracted meetings, visited 9 churches, collected $48.00, and traveled 600 miles.

Without thinking about the result, a physician of Jamestown who had been administering to small pox patients, near Mt. Hill, exchanged clothing before reentering town, leaving them in the district school-house. They were recovered on Sunday before the school was to open on Monday, attaining much excitement. The physician is an excellent young man and one of our regular hearers here. He is himself of the disease, and it is not known whether there is any necessity for further apprehension.

The Lebanon Enterprise says in the last six weeks, Marion county traders have shipped South, mostly to Atlanta, Georgia, between nine hundred and one thousand mules. One firm composed of Edward H. O'Daniel, B. S. Mattingly, Lee Sams and Henry Bell shipped over five hundred of these. This company's sales at one shipment amounted to more than $34,000, which was distributed among Marion county farmers at one time. Other shippers were Charles L. Cecil, of St. Mary, Tom Garlick, of Lebanon, and Ciel Jordan, of Penick.

The grand jury of Adair County was discharged last Thursday. They were in session eleven days and during that time a great many witnesses were before the body. They returned thirty-five indictments, classified as follows: Breach of the peace, 15; trespass, 6; larceny, 2; reckless use of weapons, 1; selling liquor to a minor, 2; disturbing worship, 12; selling liquor, 18; engaging in a brawl, 1; malicious wounding, 1; carrying a dangerous weapon, 1; robbery, 1. The grand jury had under consideration a number of other cases, but it was impossible to get sufficient proof to indict.

Larue County's "Talking Rock"

The newspaper stories, which were recently published, in regard to Joe Mulhatten, the great and famous newspaper liar, being insinuated, call to mind a story which many Larue county people are familiar with, and which proved to be a fake as "stupendous and far-reaching" as any that the famous Joe ever worked off on an unsuspecting public. It was a story of a "talking rock." The rock was discovered by our own Bill Mitchell, about fifteen miles from Hodgenville, and to get to it one had to pass from hill to hill, from hollow to hollow, over mammoth rocks and through tangled brush, across swift flowing streams and through a country infested with rattlesnakes and wild cats, but notwithstanding these barriers, people went to see this wonderful "talking rock." They found it, but of course it had no tongue, told no tales and asked no questions, notwithstanding one gentleman said he heard it exclaim: "What fools ye mortals be." Of course each crowd that visited the place told that there actually existed the talking rock, and in this way other suckers persuaded themselves to go see the wonderful rock. About half of the population of Larue and adjoining counties went to see the wonder, and had it not been for an exceedingly pious preacher who sought to satisfy his curiosity by a visit to the rock, giving the thing away from his pulpit, it is very likely that each succeeding generation in this part of the State would have visited Mitchell's "talking rock." Joe Mulhatten, who was at that time a traveling man, heard of the story while here one day, and hunted Mr. Mitchell. He took from his coat a blue ribbon and pinned it on Bill, saying: "You have won the championship; I have been knocked out, the honors are yours, take them."—Larue Herald.

Some Pension Figures.

The annual pension appropriation bill now before Congress carries $145,245,280. This is the largest appropriation on record. The amount to be appropriated this year for pensions, thirty-six years after the close of the civil war, to which the economic charge is chiefly due, exceeds the aggregate payments on the same amount during the five years from 1860 to 1864 inclusive. It is more than double the appropriation of 1860, eleven years ago. It is more than double the expenditures of the Federal Government, for all purposes, in 1861, the first year of the civil war. It nearly equals the total expenditures of the Federal Government, excluding interest on the public debt in 1871, only thirty years ago. It is more than five times what the republic was paying for pensions in 1878, thirteen years after the end of the civil war. The total number of pensioners now on the roll is 908,529. Ten years ago there were 587,944. Twenty years ago there were 250,802. The total number of new claims allowed last year was 40,445, exceeding by more than 2,000 the reduction occasioned in the roll by the deaths of old pensioners, thirty-six years after the end of the civil war. Mr. Towne in his Senate speech warned us that the United States are fast going the way to destruction that Rome traveled—a prediction that has been heard many times in the last hundred years. He also formally expressed his opinion that England is surely going to the eternal howl-wows, an opinion that has been wholly unopposed and much amplified during the past five or six hundred years. Mr. Towne, however, seems to be growing conservative as his age increases. He gives England a century in which to smash up, while other recent prophets gave her only until the close of the Boer war.—Courier-Journal.

The Senate substitute for the War Revenue Bill as it passed the House was reported last week. Taxes are reduced on cigars, tobacco, beer, proprietary medicines, insurance, capital and bankers, and the special tax on commercial brokers is repealed. The tax on bank checks is restored. Among the stamp taxes repealed are those on promissory notes, mortgages, telegrams and express and freight receipts.

Lucky Little Girl.

Never did San Francisco mothers and sisters take keener interest in a child than they are now evincing in Dorothy Creede, the Titian haired five-year-old girl who made happy the last days of Nicholas C. Creede and to whom he bequeathed his millions of mining property, stocks and bonds. Romantic as it was for the hardy miner after many years of rough life to become attached to the one-year-old youngster he saw playing in a garden next to his home, those who knew him best thought it even more interesting that he should adopt the child and then should make her heir to his millions.

But this he did, and now comes the most extraordinary feature of the case. In his will, it has just become known, Creede imposed but one condition. That was that the entire property should go to Dorothy only "if she has lead a proper and virtuous life." This unique feature of Creede's will was brought to light by the institution of a suit for $250 a week by Mrs. Creede, widow of the millionaire miner. She had not lived happily with her husband, and some time during the year before he died he paid her $20,000 in relinquishment of all claims against him. She went to home in Alabama, and the intention was that at the end of the year Creede should obtain a divorce on the ground of abandonment. He died within a year and the suit was never brought.

It was little Dorothy Basford, daughter of Mrs. Edith Scott Basford, who made bright and happy the last days of the Colorado miner. He first saw her through a window of his splendid home in Los Angeles. He wanted to adopt her, but her mother protested. When Mrs. Basford became dangerously ill, however, and her life was despaired of, she consented to the appointment of the wealthy miner as Dorothy's guardian. This was near the end of Creede's life. The guardian, instead of the mother, died. Mrs. Basford recovered, and although she had trembled for the future of her little daughter because she could not obtain for her the best advantages—she now found Dorothy had become an heiress to millions.

In his will Creede provided for the future comfort and training of the little one whose childish prattle had brightened his last days, and he directed that she be given the advantage of special tutors. His wishes have been the especial care of Dorothy's mother, and in the fortunate daughter are being developed those strong traits of character which the rough miner thought he saw in his little friend. Dorothy Creede is in her fifth year, and she must wait many years before she can come into possession of $9,000,000 left to her by her guardian. Those who see her often, while mindful of her childish lack of appreciation of what the millionaire's generosity means for her are confident that when she becomes 21 years old she will devote this property to charity.

They have no fear that she will lose the Creede fortune because of the unique provision of the will which has recently become known.

Senator Deboe's friends in Kentucky say he will recommend the name of ex-Gov. W. O. Bradley to the President for Judge of the Eastern Federal district.

To Get Rid of His Wealth.

Mr. Carnegie has declared that for a man to die rich is to be disgraced. He has lived up to this theory to some extent, and has indicated that he really meant what he said. He is credited with having given away, mostly for libraries and public halls, not far from $17,000,000. It is doubtful if any living man has given away more. Possibly no one has done as much in this line. But Mr. Carnegie, with all his generosity, will have to increase the rate of his benefactions very rapidly or risk making money or he will be disgraced. It is doubtful if his total gifts for educational and other public purposes, enormous as they are, exceed his profits for a single prosperous year. He is sixty years of age and his fortune is counted by the hundreds of millions, and is still growing at a greater rate than ever. It looks as though the Golden Fortune had entered into a conspiracy to compel Mr. Carnegie to discontinue in spite of himself. He was willing to relieve himself of $125,000 for a public library building in Louisville, but he wouldn't give up a cent unless there was some plain method of taking care of the money. Mr. Carnegie would give nothing to the Polytechnic Society or any other private corporation. He only gives to the public.—Louisville Times.

A wedding is reported from Blaine county Oklahoma, where the officiating judge and the wedded couple were "fifteen miles apart." Pearl Baker and Miss Pauline Shoemaker, living near Osley, fifteen miles from the county seat, were to be married, and their friends at Osley had prepared a dinner for them. No minister could be found, and Watson, the county seat, was too far away to get back in time for dinner, so they called up Judge McBrayn and proposed that they be married by telephone. The bride and groom took their places at the phone at Osley and the judge at the phone at Watson. After asking them the regulation questions he pronounced them man and wife.

The United States Supreme Court unanimously decided that C. F. W. Newby, the defendant, was subject to extradition to Cuba. The Court upholds the validity of the United States' occupation of the Island, which it says is foreign territory held in trust by the United States until such a time as the inhabitants are able to establish a government of their own. Mr. Cardozo in his argument before the Supreme Court, said the real question is not as to whether the Constitution extends to Porto Rico, but whether or not it extends to the President, Congress and the Cabinet.

John Sheridan, who has been in charge of the money order department of the Havana post office, has been indicted for the theft of $1,500. He had confessed and offered to return the money.

Queen Victoria's Wealth.

When Queen Victoria came to the throne she was absolutely destitute, a pensioner upon the charity of her uncle, King George IV. Her father, the Duke of Kent, had been summarily removed in disgrace from the command of the British garrison at Gibraltar, and found his way to Paris, where he lived for a time in a precarious and scandalous manner until he was rescued by a rich London alderman, who loaned him the money to pay his fare back to England just in time to prevent the future queen and empress from being born on foreign soil. George IV. gave him a chilly reception. He was particularly severe and selfish toward his poor relations, and begrudgingly gave the duke and his wife apartments in the old palace at Kensington. After the death of the duke of Kent his widow and Alexander Victoria, her only child, were permitted to reside in seclusion, and it was the lonely home of Queen Victoria during her childhood and girlhood.

At the moment she and her mother, the duchess of Kent, were notified of her accession to the throne, they did not have money enough to pay cab fare to the palace, but, after sixty years up on the throne, the daughter died worth $100,000,000. This fortune was acquired by the practice of economy and business methods which furnish an example to the humble as well as the proud.

The Warren county grand jury has indicted Luther R. Porter, former cashier of the Warren Deposit Bank, on the charge of embezzlement. The amount of his shortage, as charged in the indictment, is $10,005.02. Mr. Porter promptly gave bond in the sum of $5,000 and made a statement in which he emphatically denies the charges and asserts that at the proper time the facts will be clearly demonstrated.

A marriage law is to be presented at the next session of the Wisconsin Legislature providing among other things that a board of medical examiners be organized and maintained by the State and that no license shall be granted to persons contemplating marriage, unless they shall have received a certificate from the board stating that they are free from insanity, consumption and tainted blood.

Dr. Robert Graham, former President of Kentucky University and widely known as an educator, died at Bellevue, Pa. He had been visiting in Pennsylvania for the past year.

Montreal, Canada, had a fire last week in the wholesale business part of the city, involving a loss of between two and four million dollars.

Danger of Colds and Lagrippe.

The greatest danger from colds and lagrippe is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous malady. It will cure a cold or an attack of lagrippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by M. Cravens who guarantees every bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will refund the money to anyone who is not satisfied after using two-thirds of the contents. This is the best remedy in the world for lagrippe, coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough and is pleasant and safe to take. It prevents any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia.

What It Has Cost.

Since the battle of Manila bay on May 1, 1898, we have had some trade with the Philippine islands and "trade" is the cause of the present trouble over there. Since August 6, 1898, we have exported to the Philippines less than $20,000,000 worth of goods—not counting military supplies. The imports average about $1,000,000 a month. But it has cost us something to secure that trade. It has cost us upwards of $20,000,000 in cash. In other words, it has cost us $10 for every one dollar's worth of goods sold in the Philippines. But money is not all we have expended in order to secure the commerce of the Philippines. Since August 6, 1898, 192 American soldiers have been killed while engaged in the work of furthering our Philippine commerce. During the same time 439 American soldiers have died of wounds and accidents while working to advance our commercial interests in the Philippines. During that same time 2,120 American soldiers have died of disease while engaged in the arduous task of enlarging our commerce in the Philippine islands. In 1898, 3,251 American soldiers have been sacrificed in order to enlarge our commerce an average of $1,000,000 a month. But that is not all. During that same period 2,547 American soldiers have been wounded while striving to increase our commerce with the Philippines.

For each soldier who has been killed or died of disease in the Philippines, we have secured trade amounting to $6,151.95. Is the "commerce" worth the price?

Since August 6, 1898, we have sold to the people in the Philippine islands goods to the amount of $20,000,000. To effect this sale we have expended upwards of $20,000,000 and sacrificed 3,251 American soldiers. How long will it take this nation to bankrupt itself by securing trade and commerce at such a cost? And how much more would we have sold to the Philippine islands in the same length of time if we had treated the Philippines on American lines?

To get a really good cup of coffee you'll have to start back of the actual making; you'll have to look to the roasting and the grinding. In ARBUCKLES' you have a coffee that's scientifically roasted, and delivered to you with all the pores of the berry hermetically sealed. You're sure of a good cup of coffee because all the coffee flavor and aroma are kept intact until you want it. The fame of ARBUCKLES' induced other coffee packers to put out imitations of it. These imitations cost the grocer (and you) a cent a pound less than ARBUCKLES'. But don't be tempted to buy a package of some other coffee when you can get
